

Eddie, The Junior Year

Acme

Copyright © 2018 by Dr. Robert E. Zee

Moving on to a different topic, Mr. Crum asks Kathy, “and, what about that comment you made about Eddie having a discus? Is the school’s discus in Eddie’s possession?” Kathy bluntly tells him, “no.” Mr. Crum is obviously on a fishing expedition, looking for more ways to cause trouble. If there is a discus in Eddie’s possession, Mr. Crum’s logic is that he must have stolen it from the school. Mr. Crum asks, “then, how did Eddie get hold of a discus?” Kathy replies, “I ordered it from Acme. They sell discuses, along with anvils, rocket sleds, bombs, jet motors, and tornado seeds. Wile E. Coyote on Road Runner orders shit from there all the time. It got delivered just a few minutes after I ordered it, just like on TV.” Miss Starr has to turn around to conceal laughing, not quite believing what she is hearing.